LAW THINKS STEELE INNOCENT. He honestly believed that Steele did not know that Wren had robbed him. He went to Steele's saloon next morning and got two drinks from him and watched him narrowly, but said nothing about the robbery. RICHMOND, VA., THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 5, 1879.

The Police Justice thought otherwise. " CAPTAIN JACK" HANDSOME.

Mr. Griffin testified that about 1 or 2 A. M. April 11th he and Brooks conversed with Law near corner Fourteenth and Main. Law told them, in response to a mestion, that he was let out the bar-room. He described "Captain Jack" as a man dressed very neatly, with black moustache, and a good-looking man. Said that "Captain Jack" took his money. Here the evidence was closed. Mr. Cabell asked for bail, and said he didn't care how high it was put. Mr. Meredith reviewed the evidence, and claimed that Wren was clearly entitled to bail.

BAIL REFUSED WREN. The Police Justice refused bail. Defence asked that Wren be sent to the tation house until the trial to-day. The Police Justice said he had no control over the matter. They then asked that the Police Justice and the Commonwealth's Attorney request that he be kept up-stairs in the jail. Both said they had no objection o that arrangement, but could not make that request. Both accused were sent to jail, it being understood that Steele would give bail later. THE SAME STORY.

The testimony of Messrs. Brooks and Griffin is not given in full above, as it is simply a repetition of what Law told Judge cordially invite the public. AND SO FORTH. Sergeant Seal was not recognized as a witness for defence, but they said they would send for him when they wanted him. Mr. Law was not committed, as was in the power of the Justice, but was continued under the custody of Officer James. Wren and Steele spent last night together
